ECO-FRIENDLY TABLEWARE

At PUNARVA, we are committed to reshaping the way we think about dining and sustainability. As manufacturers of biodegradable tableware made from sugarcane bagasse, we offer a greener, cleaner alternative to traditional plastic and foam products. Our mission is simple: to protect the Earth from the harmful effects of single-use plastics and provide eco-friendly, high-quality tableware that doesn't compromise on style or function.

Sugarcane bagasse, a byproduct of sugarcane processing, is the core material we use in crafting our plates, bowls, trays, and cups. Not only is it a renewable resource, but it also breaks down naturally, leaving no toxic residue behind—unlike plastics that take hundreds of years to decompose and pollute our environment.

In a world where environmental concerns are growing, it's time for change. By choosing our biodegradable tableware, you're not just serving meals—you're serving a cleaner, greener future. We believe every small step towards sustainability counts, and by replacing plastic with bagasse, we are collectively contributing to a more sustainable, plastic-free world.

Let’s work together for a greener Earth, one plate at a time.
